Closing Comments
• Apple started out in a garage and with good management and marketing momentum has become an industry success.

• Pearland started out with a railroad depot and a Polish Count building a residential project called “PEAR-LAND.”

How we develop Pearland in the future will determine what the city will be:

An upscale contemporary city
OR
Just another Houston area suburb
A Growing City

• Pearland, founded in 1894, was a little sleepy crossroad “oil field town” sometimes known as “Six Shooter Junction.” The town grew slowly and by 1965 had a population of about 3,000 citizens.

• Thirty-five years later the 2000 Census showed the city had a population of 38,000 citizens.

• Just a few years ago, the Houston Chronicle spotlighted Pearland as a growing upscale Houston suburb.
Gaining Regional Recognition

Pearland was making progress in improving our community image when the Houston Chronicle ran an assessment of the quality of life of Houston suburbs:

The Houston Chronicle Reported

“Some Houston suburbs are not what they used to be – they have become sophisticated cities with amenities associated with urban lifestyles.”

“Three of the larger communities surrounding Houston have a new regional distinction and are called The Lands – Pearland, Sugar Land and the Woodlands.”
Becoming a Stand Alone City

Pearland, as a relatively new city, is becoming less dependent on Houston for entertainment, retail shopping, medical and other core city services.

Pearland is physically separated from the City of Houston by approximately 8 miles of undeveloped land along SH 288 and has BW 8 as our north boundary with Harris County.

Pearland has direct access to local and regional mobility with direct connections to BW 8, SH 288 Toll Road, and 5 state highways that run through the City.

Pearland is centrally located with easy access to the Texas Medical Center, Hobby and Ellington airports, NASA and equal distance to four deep water ports.
Growth and Challenges

- People have a choice of where they live and if we don’t build a city that people want they will go somewhere else to find one. More than 150,000 citizens have chosen the Pearland area.

- They have chosen Pearland because we are recognized as a city that provides quality of life, first class education, recreation and leisure opportunities and many other benefits all with a small town atmosphere.

- Pearland’s rapid growth has created opportunities that we must take advantage of and we will work to meet the challenges of growth to make Pearland an emerging cosmopolitan city.
Meeting the challenges of growth

We will continue:

Good stewardship of our tax dollars, continue upgrading our city services and infrastructure, maintain our quality of life for our safe and livable city and keep our small town atmosphere.

Building an environment that will attract corporate headquarters, high value retail, industrial, medical and quality residential development to support our tax base.

Providing educational, recreational, cultural and leisure opportunities to include museums, performing arts facilities and people places with upscale dining and shopping opportunities expected of a destination city.
Continuing Momentum

Pearland completed 2017 with good progress even with an unusual and long hot summer, a Harvey visit to Pearland, snow on the house tops and a once in every 20 year freeze.

The flooding and damage during Harvey’s visit was catastrophic and the worst tropical rainstorm ever to hit the U.S. but something really special happened.

Our First Responders, local churches, schools, community organizations, and our citizens reached out to those in need and Pearland truly became a “family.”

We will continue working with our many partners, our local, state, and national elected officials, and with our citizens continued support, we will recover and make Pearland a special cosmopolitan city.
Thank you for your attendance today and for your contributions to Pearland.

The future belongs to those who prepare for it and we are making good progress in building our attractive and contemporary suburban city.

My job as Mayor is to make sure that at the end of the day that you will always be proud to say –

“I’m glad I live in Pearland.”
